Serampore College

The Wise Shall Possess Glory (Proverbs 3:35)

COLLEGE EMBLEM

The Wise Shall Possess Glory (Proverbs 3:35)

The college coat of arms contains (i) the CROSS, the important symbol of sacrifice and love, as witnessed the life and death of Jesus Christ (ii) the Bible, which contains the word of God for all humanity and the pelican of Piety, feeding with drops of her own blood the three hungry young ones sitting on the edge of her nest. The motto on the crest reads in Latin Gloriam Sapientes Possidebunt which means “The Wise Shall Possess Glory” (Proverbs 3:35), inviting all those entering the portals of this Institution to live up to the ideals cherished by the blessed founders.

THE PURPOSE OF THE COLLEGE

The supreme task of this historic institution is to impart to our students, knowledge that shall culminate in true wisdom, the sure foundation both of well-being and well-doing. The College stands for education of the whole person enabling its students to be people of sound learning and sterling character and motivating them to serve humanity with dedication. The College affirms from experience that the intermingling of students from different backgrounds is healthy and is of great help in the interest of broad culture and strong character. Further, the College stands for quality first, quantity second. Serampore College objective is to develop well-rounded individuals that possess critical 21st century capabilities.

DISTINCTIVE FEATURES OF SERAMPORE COLLEGE

Since Serampore was a Danish Colony from 1755 to 1845, the Baptist missionaries were given all encouragement to develop their educational enterprise by the Danish Governors, Colonel Bie and his successor, Colonel Krefting. Joshua Marshman visited Copenhagen and secured from the King of Denmark, Frederick the Sixth, a Royal Charter, empowering the College to confer degrees in all faculties.

In other words, Serampore College was considered the third University, the other two being at Copenhagen and at Kiel. In 1845, when the Danish settlement was purchased by the British, the treaty of purchase included provisions for maintaining the rights and amenities granted to the College by the Royal Charter of 1827. The powers conferred by the Royal Charter were used by the College for the first time in 1915 when three students of the College were awarded the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. The Charter was modified taking into account all legal issues involved and submitted to the Bengal Legislative Council for necessary action. The College Bill was passed by the Legislature in its meeting on 28th March 1918 and it subsequently received the assent of the Governor-General and was gazetted on 1st May 1918. The special status of Serampore College is thereby given statutory recognition in the Serampore College Act.

As part of the Centenary Celebration of the College under the leadership of the Principal Rev. Dr. George Howells, the Serampore College Act, 1918 was given to the College by the then Bengal Government. This Act empowers the Council to constitute and appoint the College Faculty and Senate of the College. Senate of the College was established in order to have uniform theological training for Christian Ministry for the Protestant and Orthodox churches of the whole country and neighbouring countries through the many seminaries affiliated to the College. Several graduates, men and women trained through these institutions, are awarded degree in Theology at the convocation of Serampore College held annually since 1915.

However, the Arts and Science Departments were affiliated to Calcutta University when it was established in 1857 and this connection has been maintained barring two interruptions, one during 1884 to 1909 when the College was confined to denominational theological training and again during 1960 to 1965 when the College was transferred to the jurisdiction of the Burdwan University. We should never forget Principal George Howells's statement in his report at the Centenary celebration of the College in 1918, "Apart from the academic recognition we are now giving to the scientific study of theology, we still retain under the charter and the (new) Serampore College Act, the right of developing on independent University lines in other Faculties as soon as we satisfy the Government that we possess equipment and adequate funds for the purpose".

The other interesting point is that the founders underscored the importance of vernacular as the medium of instruction in the primary, secondary and advanced levels of study, though English was always offered as an additional subject in the college. They not only promoted education in the vernacular, but also published text books on Geography, Chemistry, Medical Science and the Map of India in Bengali.

EDUCATION FOR SOCIAL TRANSFORMATION

Besides educational enterprises, the founders of the College served the society in many other ways. They did the pioneering work of publishing periodicals such as the Dig Darshan, the Samachar Darpan and the Friend of India, the ancestor of the present “Statesman”. William Carey published an amazing number of grammatical and lexicographical works in Sanskrit and Bengali and in other Asian Languages. He is rightly given a place among the founders of modern Bengali prose. He translated the Bible into several Asian languages with the help of other scholars. His interest in Indian flora was realized in the establishment of Agro-Horticultural Society in Calcutta in 1820. Joshua and his wife Hannah Marshman were greatly involved in establishing several schools, both for boys and girls in and around Serampore. William Ward, who was in charge of the Serampore Press, one of the largest of its kind in the world, was an erudite scholar and a great publisher. The pioneers made the fonts in many Indian languages with the help of pundits and craftsmen and manufactured paper and ink themselves. Their academic pursuits never deterred the founders from involving themselves in rendering humanitarian and social services to the people. They stopped infanticide, promoted the idea of saving in banks for the poor and helped in bringing proper legislation to stop the cruel practice of Sati or burning the widow on the funeral pyre of her husband.

It can be derived from our history that education is for social transformation. Along with quality education, service-oriented programmes with a broad vision for national integration and human solidarity in our country are the cry of our time. The College continues to cherish the values in motivating our students and staff in serving the underprivileged and the marginalised. Special seminars highlighting the contemporary issues faced by our society are held as part of the co-curricular programmes of the College. Both theological and secular disciplines have been taught on the same campus for the last 205 years, promoting understanding and respect for people of all traditions. In other words, the College continues to uphold the broadest culture and the strongest character, transcending narrow sectarian beliefs.

PUBLIC RECOGNITION

Along with the College, the people of Serampore town have recognized the significant contribution made by Dr. William Carey to the society as a missionary, scholar and social transformer by installing a plaque and by portraying prominently the famous statement of his in the Serampore Railway Station.

“Attempt great things for God, expect great things from God”.

PRAYER

Christian prayer is held daily in the college Chapel from 12-15 to 12-29 p.m. All Students of the College are invited to these prayers. Other forms of organized worship are not practised in Serampore College premises.

PRINCIPAL'S WELCOME ADDRESS

It gives me great pleasure to introduce the college and its community to you. We trace our origin back in the early nineteenth century, but we have been our current site in the heart of this great city of missionaries for about 200 years. The footprints of our founding father Rev. Dr. William Carey is traced back in the year 1793 and it took 25 years to set up this global institution achieving global recognition in the inception year 1818, and by the Royal Charter in 1827 from Frederick the Sixth, King of Denmark. We are the biggest academic community in India and abroad imparting both secular and theological education under one roof. Our motto is to provide academic excellence thereby instigating the physical, mental and spiritual growth.

Our size means that we form a close knit and informal community of staff and students holding the best of traditions and rich cultural heritage while interpreting them in a distinctive way. It is easy to be involved and engaged here in this missionary college-in terms of academic conversation, students common room affairs, sports and cultural activities, and even college governance. We greatly value

The Will Shall Run Glory (Proverbs 3:35)

the input of our students in every aspect of college life, and in partnership with them create an exceptional community focused on learning and research.

Secular education comprises Faculty of Arts-Science-Commerce affiliated to the University of Calcutta and the curriculum is also followed as per the rules and laws laid down by the University from time to time. Our College offers Post-Graduate courses in Human Physiology, Zoology and Botany; honours and major courses in Bengali, Botany, Chemistry, Communicative English, Economics, English, Education, Finance and Accounting, Geography, History, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Physiology, Political Science, Sanskrit, Zoology. Besides our college also offers General Courses in Bengali, Botany, Chemistry, Commerce, Economics, Education, Electronics, English, Geography, History, Journalism and Mass Communication, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Physiology, Political Science, Sanskrit, Sociology, Statistics, Zoology. The students from the Faculty of Arts-Science-Commerce have excelled enormously and have placed themselves to greater heights in the form of IAS, IPS, WBCS officers and as clerks in many other government institutions, banks, Railways and many more. Quality of education is the bible for all the faculties of all branches of secular education.

Our College also provides theological education courses in undergraduate, post-graduate and doctorate by the Faculty of Theology catering to the needs of the Churches in India and abroad. The vision that our founding father had seen is being carried forward with growing interest. Theological section adds to the rich culture of the city as the first press and Bengali print of Bible was all because of the vision that Rev. Dr. Carey had seen.

The Senate of the College is responsible for the theological education imparting degrees to the students of theology of all the 60 affiliated colleges in India.

The permission to offer degrees was granted to this institution through the Royal Charter which was validated by the Serampore College Act, 1918.

Serampore College being an educational institution undertook various social responsibilities like feeding almost 250 people daily through community kitchen with the help of the Students' Union during the pandemic. Our College runs a pre-primary school namely "William Carey Pathsala" in Pathar Pratima on the outskirts of Sunderbans catering to the needs of the needy justifying the name of the founder and the teachings of the Lord and saviour Jesus Christ. The NSS unit of our College regularly distributed relief materials for the needy people of Serampore during the lockdown to cut down on their poverty.

The famous theme of William Carey, "Expect Great Things from God and Attempt Great Things for God" continues to be our foundation.

POST GRADUATE STUDIES IN ZOOLOGY

The Department of Zoology achieved the distinction of becoming the first Post-Graduate department of the college in 2009. The vibrant department is now running UG (Hons. and General) and PG courses in Zoology. This department does its best to extend the academic activities beyond the classroom in the form of conducting field workshops, participating in National seminars and symposia and providing the crucial exposure to students in outside well-equipped laboratories of premiere research institutes. The department, with the active involvement of teachers, non-teaching staff, research scholars, students and even guardians, now gracefully combines wisdom with vigour, planning with execution and knowledge with action.

Serampore College

The Wise Shall Run Glory (Proverbs 3:35)

The department has a rich post-graduate seminar library with lending and reading facilities for teachers and students alike with a recently introduced “Biodiversity Study Section” in the seminar library with field guides and dedicated books on faunal identification. This department is also the first department in this college to introduce a DVD library with subject related documentary films and other audio-visual aids.

As stated already, excursions, educational tours and field-based workshops are frequently organised to provide vital field experience to the students. Invited lectures by eminent academicians in the subject and allied fields are also regularly organized for further and fuller enrichment of our PG students. Lastly, visits to outside laboratories and research institutes like Indian Institute of Chemical Biology, Netaji Subhas Cancer Research Institute, Bose Institute, Wildlife Institute of India, Dehradun, Institute of Genetic Engineering, Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute, Ramkrishna Mission Seva Pratishthan, Belur Vidyamandir etc. have been conducted in recent times to give the students a glimpse of research environment in state-of-the-art laboratories.

For further information, contact Course Coordinator, Dr. Soumyajit Banerjee, Department of Zoology, Serampore College.

POST GRADUATE STUDIES IN HUMAN PHYSIOLOGY

Post Graduate studies in Human Physiology affiliated to University of Calcutta, started its journey in 2010 and currently offer four special papers, viz, Biochemistry, Endocrinology and Reproductive Physiology, Environmental Physiology and Sports & Exercise Physiology.

The department is devoted to education, training and research and strives to push the boundaries of scientific discovery and academic development. The Department's faculty and students in conjunction with research fellows use innovative tools to uncover physical and chemical mechanisms of biological processes.

Recently, the department has been awarded with WB DSTFIST Program funded by the Department of Science and Technology, Government of West Bengal, for research infrastructure development. Also, four faculty members of this department have already been enlisted as independent Ph.D. supervisors under University of Calcutta and eight research scholars are working/ have worked under them. Further, the department uses Serampore College Animal House Facility and has Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC). Overall, the department helps the students to remain research-informed, focus on concept rather than detail, and provide the ability to apply what they learn to the understanding of everyday physiological situations and to gain generic skills relevant to their future careers.

For further information, contact Course Coordinator, Dr. Bithin Kumar Maji, Department of Physiology, Serampore College.

POST GRADUATE STUDIES IN BOTANY

Department of Botany started its journey long back in 1974 when Honours course was initiated under University of Calcutta. However, Post Graduate Department of Botany started only in 2015 with prior approval from Department of Higher Education, Government of West Bengal and University of Calcutta after acquisition of rooms and well-equipped laboratories.

The course is a self-financed two-year M.Sc. course divided into four semesters (total two years) and duly approved by University of Calcutta. Apart from our own faculty, guest faculty from Universities and research institutions also take active participation in completion of the course curriculum including the practical.

The department also collaborates with Botanical Society of India, Howrah, and University of Calcutta, Kolkata, for arrangement of workshops to make the students familiar with the recent advances in research activities in different branch of plant sciences. Botanical excursions are arranged both locally as well as outstation so that students get acquainted with the floristic diversity outside West Bengal. The course also offers specializations in Plant Physiology and Biochemistry, Taxonomy of Angiosperms, Cell Biology and Genetics, Mycology and Plant Pathology, Ecology, Microbiology.

COLLEGE LIBRARY

The Library of Serampore College is one of the oldest in India and it is the core of the educational life of the College. It includes Arts-Science-Commerce and Theology sections as well as the 'Carey Library and Research Centre' which itself has about 10,500 titles in 101 different languages. In the Carey Library, some books published as early as in the 16th century are preserved. In the Theology Department of the College, the students and staff come from all over India as well as from abroad and the Library is frequently used by them for regular studies and research work.

The Central Library

READING ROOM

The Central Library is situated in the ground floor of the main building. The Students of Arts-Science-Commerce get access to the Central Library (ASC). There is a spacious Free Access Reading Hall adjacent to it, having seating arrangement for 100 students. RFID chip has been installed in each book and the reading room is under the CCTV surveillance.

The collection of books in the Reading Room consists of books on all subjects according to undergraduate syllabus, as well as reference books like encyclopaedia, dictionary, collected works of famous writers and the like. The library has a good collection of current books and journals. It has a collection of old books, magazines, journals and valuable old maps as well. The efficient staff members provide effective service to the students.

Reading Room

There are four sections in the Reading Hall.

1. Reference Collection

Serampore College

The Wise Shall Run Gladly (Proverbs 3:35)

The reference collection consists of Encyclopaedias, dictionaries, handbooks, reports, Annual reviews, Art Books etc.

2. OPAC terminal to access Library database.

There are 6 terminals for searching the database (KOHA) with the mobile app. facility. There also we have the card catalogue searching facility for the user.

3. Internet access terminal for e- journal and e-books.

There are 9 cubicles in the library, each equipped with centralized LAN. The cubicles are specially meant for students those who want to search the e-journals, e-books and also for OPAC.

4. Display section of periodicals, Journals, Newspapers and magazines.

The library provides current-awareness service to the readers through new arrivals display, newspapers, newsletters, journals, magazine etc. These newly added resources are also displayed for the convenience of students and faculty members, so that they could be aware of latest state-of the-art of the library.

BOOK BANK FACILITY

The book bank facility is available for the students belonging to non-creamy layer of the society.

LENDING COUNTER

Text Books are lent out to students for a fortnight. The Library is fully computerized. At the beginning of the session, RFID based college Identity Cards are issued to the students. This card is used both as a college ID card and also as a library card. Books are issued on production of the Card. Open Access system is introduced through which students can access the stack area and can borrow the books of their own choice.

Without the clearance certificate of the Library no student is allowed to appear in the final examination or leave the college. The students are responsible for the loss or misuse of their card and in such cases are liable to pay the requisite fines.

Digital archive:

The library holds a golden treasury of old and rare documents. A project on digital archive of rare documents was undertaken by the college to restore these rare documents from decaying. The digital archives software D-Space is used in this project. All the archival documents are available in the institutional LAN.
